THE CENTRAL WILL PRO-RATE WITH THE CANADIAN PACIFIC. The Monon Turned Over to the Brice

Thomas Syndicate-Breyfogle Gets a Clerical Job-Leeds Comes to New York Explain About Sugar Bates. The railroad public is waiting to hear what he terms of the New York Central-Canadian ific alliance are before it decides what efact it will have on the general situation. The siped an entrance to this city, as good as if is had its own line, but that the Vanderbilts jed up with a foreign line which is not amenahis to the law. It was explained that the New Tork Central was willing to guarantee that the Canadian Pacific would not violate the rules of the Trunk Line Association or the Inter-State Commerce law; but this idea is purely gratutous, in view of the foreign road's previous relations with domestic roads. President W. C. Van Horne has utterly refused to become a member of the Trunk Line or Central Traffic ociation, and the only way the transcontimental lines could protect themselves was by paying the Canadian Pacific a subsidy of 1500,000 a year to keep out of California and the Pacific coast points south of Portland.

THE SUN obtained further particulars yesperday of the New York Central-Canadian companies said that they would pro-rate on all business. The Canadian Pacific pays the Boston and Maine so much per passenger and per freight ton on all its business in and out of Boston. If there is a cut in rates the Boston and Maine can easily shift the responsibility; but when the New York Central agrees to accept a certain percentage of the through rate from New York to any point on the Canadian no the pro-rating arrangement leaves it Pacific the pro-rating arrangement leaves it open to doubt where the responsibility for manipulation of rates lies. President Van Horas demanded that the percentage of the rate slicited to each ror 2 be determined by missass. While this is believed to be the agreement for low it can adian business for competitive points in the United States reached by the roo' line such as St. Paul, Mr. Van Horns consen ed to take much less than the mileage new points auch as St. Paul, Mr. Van Horns consen ed to take much less than the mileage percentage.

An officer of the Central was asked whether the arrangment with the Canadian Pacific wouldn't have the Michigan Central and Lake Shore. The Canadian Pacific gets all the Eastbound business it can out of Chicago via the Wabash. His answer was:

"The Lake Shore and Michigan Central get about all the business they can at present, and certain shippers will patronize these roads in spite of the cut rates of competitors. They get a great deal of business which they don't turn over to the Central at Buffaio. An agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, for example, in Chicago, unds that he can get a cargo providing it takes the Lake Shore out of Chicago. The difficulty, if at all, will come between Chicago and St. Paul. The Canadian Pacific Las always insisted on the same through rate from the scaboard to St. Paul as the demestic roads a quote from the seaboard to Chicago. This looks as if the St. Paul-Chicago coads would be somewad, but I don't think that there is any nore ground for compolaint now than there was before. The Canadian Pacific Chiengo. This looks as it the St. Failt-Chiengo loads would be sineszed, but I don't think that there is any more ground for combiaint now than there was before. The Canadian Facilio is placed at a disadvantage, because its route is much longer between the points mentioned than that of the domestic roads."

It looks sell the Chiesgo and Northwestern, a Vanderbill road, would share the loss with the other Granger roads, if there is any loss. But that road is amply protected by the Lake Shore and Michigan Central, getting an abundance of high-class freight. A point lost sight of by some is that President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific has a periost understanding with President James J. Hill of the Great Northern, by which they act in perioct accord. They control the low-class freight which goes by lake in the summer and by rail all the year round. What wal hurt some of the lines in the West will not in ure the Vanderbilt roads there, while in the East the New York Central will be a gainer.

The Soo" line, which used to consist of the Ontario and Western, Rome, Watertown and Og teasburgh, and Canadian Pacific, will now go out over the WestShore's Utica, and thence via toe Rome road to Brockville. The Central, before it got the Rome road, arranged with the Ontario and Western to continue using the Suspension Bridge branch of the Rome road for the Ontario Despatch, thus shuting off all antagonism to parallel schemes.

A new time table will take effect on the Watchung itsilroad next Sunday, April 5. The midday trains will be somewhat changed, but all the commutation trains from the Oranges to New York in the morning and from New York to the Oranges in the afternoon and syening will remain substantially as at present.

Dr. W. I., Breyforle and his associates, who captured the Louisville. New Albany and Chicago Railroad a year ago and threw out the old Board of Directors without a moment's warning, turned the load over yesterday to more experienced hands. They accepted the terms of the Erice-Thomas syndicate, which was the early way out of impending ruin. The United States Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the judgment of the lower courts in favor of C. B. Converse in his suit for damages against the Delaware. Luckawanna and Western Railfrond Company. Converse, while attempting to cross the railfrond tracks near Jersey. TEXAS'S PENAL CODE INVOLVED. Decision of the V. S. Supreme Court in WASHINGTON, March 80.—The Supreme Court of the United States to day refused to grant the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the somewhat celebrated murder case of Dick Duncan against McCall, Sheriff of Sexar county, Texas, in which it was sought to bring into question the validity of the entire penal code of the State of Texas. Duncan was duly indicted, tried, and convicted in Texas of the erime of murder, and sentenced to be hanged. He appealed the case through all the intermediate courts of the State, and when the Court of Appeals of Texas decided against him. the case was taken to the United States courts, and the decision still being against him it was brought here. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, affirms the judgment of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Texas. from which the last appeal was taken. Duncan's contention was that the penal code of Texas had never been lawfully enacted in accordance with the requirements of the State Constitution, and that the code enrolled differed, through errors of the enrolling clerks, from the code passed by the State Legislature. Had Dunean's contention been sustained, it

Had Duncan's contention been sustained, it would have resulted in the release of all the prisoners in the State and would have totally upset the State criminal system.

The Court in its opinion, says it was alleged in Duncan's behalf that he had been convioued without due, process of law and that equal protection of the law had been denied him, contrary to the provisions of the Federal Constitution. As the District Court of Texas had purisdiction over the prisoner and the offence with which he stood charged, it pad jurisdiction to determine the applicatory law, and this involved the question whether particular statutes had been enacted in accordance with the regularements of the State Constitution.

It is unnecessary to enter upon an examination of the different rulings in the different States upon the question whether a statute duly approved and enrolled can be impeached by resort to the journals of the Legislature, or other evidence for the purpose of establishing that it was not passed in the manner prescribed by the State Constitution. The courts of the United States necessarily adopt the adjudication of the State courts on the subject. Numerous opinions are cited in support of this doctrine.

If the question of the invalidity of the codes judication of the State courts on the subject. Numerous opinions are cited in support of this doctrine.

If the question of the invalidity of the codes was presented to the State courts, it is held that it must be assumed that the court adjudged in favor of their validity and in accordance with the law of the State. When determined the case cannot be reviewed by the Federal courts, and the result must be the same as if the question has not been raised in the State courts.

The Court says it may remark in conclusion that the magnitude of the operation of the opinion of these statutes does not affect the principles by which the result is reached. This is not the case of a system of laws attacked upon the ground of their invalidity as the product of revolution. The State of Texas is in full possession of its faculties as a member of the Union, and its legislative, executive, and judicial departments are peacefully operating by the orderly and settled methods prescribed by its fundamental law. Whether certain statutes have or have not bloding force, it is for the State to determine, and that determination in itself involves no infraction of the Constitution of the United States, and raises no Federal question giving this court urisdiction. The judgment of the Circuit Court is accordingly affirmed.

"OFFICIATE" MUST BE DEFINED. Dr. Rainsford's Defence of His So-called

Violation of the Canon. The Rev. Dr. Rainsford sent the following

ard to the newspapers yesterday: "St. Gronge's Church, New York, March 29. "As it is said that much of the criticism of the fact that clergymen not of the Episcopal Church have lectured in St. George's Church during Lent has arisen from a misunderstanding of the nature of the services at which their lectures were delivered. I beg to say that these not appropriated to any other, and that they were inaugurated for the instruction of my flock upon topics on which all christendom is in accord, by gentlemen recognized throughout the land as trained and able Christian teachers. This year, as last, the programme and the reason there were none of the former could be had until too late to find well as the ciercy to make addresses: but, as the opinion has got abroad that they were dif-ferent. I make this statement in the cause of harmony, and to dispoi the idea that intention-ally, if at all. I have violated any canon of the Church. I have acted under the supposition that there was both precedent and authority for what was being done. W. S. Rainspord." for what was being done. W. S. RAINSFORD."

Archideacon Mackay-Smith, to whom this apology was shown, said that it would not be proper for him to express an opinion in regard to it, as it might become his duty to make a judicial investigation of the matter.

A professor in the General Theological Seminary, from which the remonstrance against the hospitality of Dr. Rainsford and Heber Newton to non-Episcopalians chiefly emanates, also refused to express an opinion on the letter, although his manner after reading it indicated what that opinion was. He said that the next General Convention would have to change the sanon so that there would be no doubt or quibbling as to the meaning of the word "officiate."

EASTER FARES WERE FOR CHARITY. So Many Newarkers Cheerfully Paid a Dol-

The Rapid Transit Electric Railroad Company of Newark gave all of its Easter Sunday receipts to the three Newark hospitals which are sustained by charity-St, Michael's. St. Barnabas, and the German. The traffic was unusually heavy, and many passengers refused change for bills and looked on with satisfac-tion as the conductors pulled the fare registers tion as the conductors pulled the fare registers twenty or forty times. Before the cars started from the shed in the morning the indicators were set at zero, and when the first car was ready to go President Ellas Ward atepped aboard and rang up $90 worth of fares, representing a brewer's contribution of $50 and a lot of $5 notes sent to the company.

It was calculated beforehand that the company would give at least $700 to the hospitals, but when everything was counted yesterday the treasurer had to draw a check for $902.44. The money was sent to Mayor Haynes for distribution.

POLITICS OF THE JURYMEN

SOME OF THE DISCOVERIES AT THE BECISH COMMISSIONERS TRIAL

arer Westeett Mas Veted for Cleveland and Harrison Beth-Heaven Knews Who Me Will Vete for Next-Mr. Lan-gerfeld's Paverite Newspapers.

President Alexander Meakim and Commissioners Joseph Koch and Edward T. Fitzpat-rick, composing the Board of Excise of this Sessions before Recorder Smyth, Last May they were indicted for misdemeanor in failing to pass on complaints made to the Board by the City Reform Club that on election day in 1889 a sarge number of saloon keepers kept ons open within a quarter of a mile of a polling place.

The specific charge in the indictment is that the Commissioners "did unlawfully and wilfully neglect and fall to act, within a reasonable space of time, and, on the contrary, and until the filing of this indictment, have falled utterly to take any action" as to complaints against Henry Ahrens, Hugh Wallace, and

The three Commissioners, fresh from the hands of their barbers and well dressed, did not appear to find the situation grave. They sat together at the bar, surrounded by their counsel, Lawyers Newcombe, Donohue, Dittenhowfer and Johnson and ex-Judge Browne, counsel to and Johnson and ex-Judge Browne, counsel to the Excise Board, and chatted smilingly until Recorder Smyth ascended the bench. Lawyer Dittenhoefer moved that a separate trial be granted to his client, President Meakim, because each member of the Excise Board voted and acted independently of his associates, and was controlled by a majority vote of his associates.

Assistant District Attorney Stapler opposed the motion. Recorder Smyth said that he must have some statement of facts, agreed upon by Mr. Dittenhoefer and Mr. Stapler, upon which to base an exercise of his discretion in granting or refusing the motion.

Mr. Dittenhoefer said that he could prepare affidavits sustaining his motion by the minutes of the Board.

Mr. Stapler said that he could not prepare answering affidavits, and would not agree on a statement of facts unless he could have access to the minutes, too, and this had been denied him by the defence.

Recorder Smyth ruled that he would not grant time unless Mr. Stapler could look over the minutes.

Thereupon the lawyers for the defence put their heads gravely together, and Mr. Dittenhoefer announced that he would withdraw his motion.

Then the work of selecting a jury was begun,
Charles T. Benham, an artist of 47 West 135th Sireet, was the first talesman called. The Commissioners are all Tammany men and the questioning took a wide range, with a view to developing Mr. Benham's political views, his opinions as to the liquor traffic, and his knowledge of the City Reform Club. It turned out that he belonged to no political party, had no pronounced opinions as to the sale of liquor,
and knew no one connected with the City
Reform Club, So he become the foreman.

James B. Ferguson, Superintendent of the American Bank Note Company, got the second chair. Peter Coleman was promptly challenged by Mr. Stapler when he said that he was not only a liquor dealer, but was a member of a liquor dealers association, of which Lawyer Newcombe is counsel. Elliot B. Whiting, manufacturer of wall paper, got a smile:

"I have voted for both Cleveland and Harrison, and I defy anybody to tell me where I'll "I have voted for both Cleveland and Harrison. and I defy suybody to tell me where I'll stand in 1892."

Lawyer Johnson, for Commissioner Koch, challenged Mr. Westcott, but Recorder Smyth overruled the challenge because the other two defendants did not join in it.

L. B. Langerfeld, an employee of Tiffany & Co., when asked if he belonged to any political party, replied:

"I believe in the Australian system of voting, and, therefore, I decline to tell anything about how I vota." He said that he did not know any of the members of the City Reform Club. Then he complacently added: "But I would be pleased to give my opinion of that organization if the Court wants it."

Hecorder Smyth assured him that the Court did not want it.

"Did you vote for the ticket favored by the City Reform Club at the last election?" asked Mr. Dittenhoefer, insinuatingly, having reference to the late unlamented P. M. L.

"Ah, now. sir." responded Mr. Langerfeld, adrottly, "you are touching again on forbidden ground, and I decline to answer, as before."

Next Lawyer Dittenhoefer asked him what den ground, and I decline to answer, as before.

Next Lawyer Dittenhoefer asked him what newspapers he was accustomed to read.

"For meteorology and necrology, sir," responded Mr. Langerfeld, impressively, "I am accustomed to peruse the Iteratic; for economics, the Evening Post, and for Democratic politics, The Sux."

And even then they wouldn't take him. John E. Thoraton, awning maker: Adolph Greaves, grocer; Daniel McIntyre, botel keeper, of I Olinton place and Asbury Fark; Benjamin Mulrhead, insurance: Morris Marks, hardware; Adolph Meyer, provisions; Otto Lochr, photographic materials, and Gottlieb Langberg, bookkeeper, filled up the jury box. Mr.
Stapler will open the case for the people to-day.

abode of the dead. Dr. Briggs prefers the word
"hades" to "hell" because the latter he calls
a wrong translation.
"There are a great many people," he said,
who would be very happy if they could have some sure evidence that the great mass of human beings who have gone down to the abode of the dead without the light of salvation will have an opportunity to be saved in the future world. Formyself, it would be one of the happiest feelings of my life if I could be assured of that fact, but in all my years of study I have falled to discover any foundation for such a belief." Dr. Briggs then spoke of the Lord as the keeper of thekeys of Hades. "It's a blessed thing that He has them in His keeping and no mortal being, for we, in our imperfections,
would surely shut up many in that dark abode
of the dead who are unworthy of such punishment.

"I give thanks to God that He has not intrusted the keys to any Presbyterian General Assembly or other theological convention, for I know that they would shut up many whom the Lord will undoubtedly save."

Mullen Found Bend After the Pire. Urlah Ellis's saloon at 1.085 Broadway, Williamsburgh, was partly destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. John Mullen was found dead behind the stove after the life. Mullen was employed as sweeper around the place, and he had the privilege of sleeping there. A policeman passing the place saw the rear of the store in a blaze and turned in an alarm. The firemen soon put out the fire, and when they made an examination of the inferior of the building they stumbled over Mullen's body. Mullen had been suffocated. The fire was caused by an overturned stove. Mullen was 32 years old.
